Distinguishing features

History

Mentor: Mathew, his coach, whom Jack sees as a father figure. Matthew comes from a line of Hunters, however he chose to become an athlete over the family tradition. He has now retired and helps the Tradition by recruiting and training new talent.

Fast Reflexes: after many years of continuous practice he knows how to focus, and is able to gather his focus to have fast reflexes.

Iron Will: due to how people underestimate him, and people thinking that he doesn't deserve his spot, he is almost always dead set on proving to himself that he is worth being here.

Overconfident: people his whole life have been complimenting him and giving him confidence, not knowing his own limits.

Infamy: his father is the president of the football association, so people think he doesn't deserve his status.

Nightmares: for the last year, he has not been able to get a good night's rest.
